Asparagus, Mary Washington Seed

Description

This traditional variety is a long-lasting perennial plant. Not only is it grown for its tender spears, but asparagus also produces a beautiful fern after flowering that is great for bouquets. An asparagus plant can last 15 years. Choose its spot in the garden carefully.

Planting Instructions

- Plant seed in spring, about one inch deep, spaced two to three inches apart, within rows that are a foot apart.
- Seeds can take three weeks to germinate.
- Keep the nursery bed free from weeds, as the asparagus seedlings will not be able to compete with strong weed growth.
